The Vermont Oxford Network Membership Agreement (the “Agreement”) for members of the Vermont Oxford Network, Inc. (“VON”) provides that the purpose of data submission by members to VON “is the evaluation and improvement of the quality and cost of health care rendered by [members], as part of [members’] quality assurance program[s].” Further, the Agreement provides that, although each member owns its own data, “the data submitted to VON becomes part of VON's database” and that “VON owns the [d]atabase and the compilation of all member’s data set forth in the [d]atabase, all forms distributed by VON for use by its members and all reports generated by VON.” Accordingly, VON maintains this Policy on Data Use to provide for the use of data by VON members within the ownership structure noted above, the parameters of the Agreement and in order to maximize the protection of the peer review status of such data in jurisdictions where it is available. You should consult with legal counsel with regard to the protection of peer review/quality improvement data and concerns regarding discovery of such data in any litigation.

License. It is the policy of VON to license all summaries, derived from VON’s analyses of data submitted to VON by members, that are distributed by VON to any member in any form, whether online, in a printed report, or otherwise, including summaries based upon data from all VON members or summaries based upon data from any subset of VON members (collectively, “VON Data”). Therefore, VON provides to each member a non-exclusive, royalty-free right to use the VON Data in connection with its operations. Each member, by agreeing to the Agreement, acknowledges the validity and ownership of the VON Data in VON and agrees that it will do nothing inconsistent with such ownership. Each Member understands and agrees that nothing in the Agreement shall give any of them any right, title or interest in the VON Data other than the right to use it in accordance with the Agreement and this policy, and that any member’s right to use the VON Data shall exist only for the limited purposes expressed herein and only for so long as their Membership Agreement remains in effect. All rights not expressly granted to members in the Agreement and this policy are reserved by VON. Members shall have no right to sublicense, assign or transfer to another party the right to use the VON Data.
